

SCHOOLS GREEN LEAD

L5 SPECIALIST TEACHING ASSISTANT

Who is looking after sustainability in your school?

Most schools know it matters, but don't always have the time, staff, or plan to take the lead.

Lead Sustainability in Your School with this NEW Green Lead Apprenticeship

Upskill a member of your team to take charge of environmental education, sustainability, and forest school initiatives - without extra pressure or cost.

In today's world, environmental awareness is more important than ever, and your school can be at the forefront.

Why this apprenticeship matters

- ▶ Gives you a nominated person in charge of sustainability and the climate action plan
- ▶ Builds skills in someone you already trust
- ▶ Supports your wider curriculum and enrichment
- ▶ Shows what your school is doing around sustainability to parents, inspectors and the wider community engagement

A network of schools with shared goal

One of the strengths of the Green Lead Cohort is the opportunity to learn alongside others.

By joining the cohort, your school becomes part of a network of settings working towards similar goals. Apprentices will share ideas, experiences and practical approaches, helping to create a supportive hub of schools committed to sustainability and environmental education.

This collaboration often leads to new ideas, partnerships and inspiration that benefit both staff and pupils.

“Rising global temperatures, more frequent extreme weather, and increasing pressure on the world’s natural resources mean the need for climate education has never been greater.

By embedding sustainability into everyday learning, schools can inspire pupils to take meaningful action in their communities and beyond.”

Edd Moore, Award Winning Environmental Educator
